

Donation-Based Coaching

Grace Ministries and TrueLife.Café do not charge fees for its coaching ministry. People are encouraged to donate to the ministry as they desire and are able.

Someone's desire or ability to donate should not hinder them from coming to Grace Ministries and TrueLife.Café for coaching. Donations from people who come for coaching have historically funded only a small portion of the total budget of the ministry. Therefore, contributions, regardless of the amount, are appreciated and important to the overall continuation and success of the ministry. Some client's donations average $90 per session; others are less. Please note that since contributions are not mandatory, they are tax-deductible.

There is a separate charge for materials assigned for homework associated with pastoral counseling/coaching, such as access to the True Life Gear ($30) and an online assessment ($30.) The cost of the True Life Gear and online assessment is not tax-deductible.

Grace Ministries and TrueLife.Café are dependent on God to provide its financial needs and, therefore, provides its services to all who are seeking help, regardless of their donation amount.